January Demonstrator

Pat Knox

Pat Knox has always been on a creative journey making art as a young child from bits and pieces she found around her home. This curiosity grew her interest in mixed media. Her recent endeavors led her to taking collage classes from an award winning artist, Connie Andrews, in Half Moon Bay. She has also traveled to Sedona Arizona to develop her skills.

She is active with like-minded artist who create with collage and ATCs (Artist Trading Cards). She develops ATCs and trades them with other artist on-line. Just about anything becomes her canvas for creativity; such as dominos, mannequin heads, rocks. Her collage creativity expands to making paper crafts, cards, paper folding art and scrapbooking. Pat says "I find collage a very satisfying expression of nature humor and generally fun to share with others."

Featured Artist

JOAN WELLS...

Joan mostly learned by reading, sketching and collecting books on different artist books - she has many! "As far as I can remember, my 1st joy was pencil and paper and then colors. I have been into many artistic endeavors such as ceramics, china painting and kiln firing but when I found water colors they became what I loved most, this began at a senior center. I hope to expand my interest in painting flowers to possibly portraits and architecture painting. And at 85 yrs. old I had better hurry."
